

Dear colleagues,

We would like to remind you about an upcoming 13th Kharkiv Young Conference on Radiophysics, Electronics, Photonics and Biophysics.

WARNING: This is the kind of event you do not want to miss. We have a lot of interesting ideas that we are going to bring to life this year.

Here are just a few of them:

- We have invited lecturers from all over the world from Germany to Japan and New Zealand.
- A lot of Web activities are planned:
 - Web-presentations by foreign peers during the scientific sessions of the Conference
 - The format of Career Development Workshop will include both webinar translation in collaboration with Scientific Social Community (www.science-community.org) and 'live' presentations:
 - We will have professionals who can teach you how to master skills of making oral presentations/preparing manuscripts: you do not have to be afraid of those activities anymore.
 - Following the success of last year presentation, we will have reports on the Online learning (MOOC, Massive Open Online Courses): insights from peers who have tried it themselves and found it (or have not – let us have something as a surprise) extremely helpful.
 - We will tell you about Ukrainian and International grants so that you do not get to question yourself where to find fundings for your research.
 - Are you familiar with such scientific societies as IEEE, OSA, SPIE? They would be happy if you become their member! And there are benefits if you do. Want to know more? Come join as during the Workshop!
- Fun and entertaining events.

! We highly encourage you to prepare you papers and oral presentations in English. Sure, you can ask us “Why would I do that”?.. Good news everyone © Five best papers (or even more if you show yourself to be extra fabulous) will be published in the “Telecommunication and Radioengineering Journal” which is present at the SCOPUS base. It can be helpful for you!

Sounds interesting, right? You can easily join this event by registering at www.ysc.org.ua and submitting a 1-page abstract. All details are available on the Conference web-site.

If you have any questions left after visiting the web-site, please do not hesitate to contact us at ysc.ire.2013@gmail.com. We are here to help!

We are looking forward to your participation in the Conference!

Kind regards,
Organizing Team of YSC 2013
